Making Power Choices and Creative Decisions – How to Navigate in Times of Chaos and Possibility Everyone wants to believe they have some measure of influence over the events in their lives. But while we can try to amass external resources that help us feel safe and protected from harm, nothing is as powerful, reliable, and truly effective in times of chaos or difficulty as trusting our own guidance, knowing how to make a clear decision and following through with it, and being able to confront our fears and illusions.

James Van Praagh | Saturday, April 28, 5 - 9 pm

Marianne Williamson | Sunday, April 29, 2:30 - 4:30 pm

Creating a New, Whole-Person Politics The times in which we're living are dramatic and unstable, yet pregnant with new possibilities for a future released from the shackles of fear. At a time when fear and hatred have been turned into a political force, is it possible to harness the powers of love and decency for political purposes as well?

Mark Nepo | Saturday, April 28, 5 - 9 pm

Heartwork For Being a Spirit In the World Those who wake are the students. Those who stay awake are the teachers. In this talk, Mark will explore the heartwork required to inhabit our lives by engaging our ongoing relationships to self, others, work, community and Source. The integrity of our heartwork depends on integrating who we are with what we do.
